

The Puffalo

The puffalo is a terrifying creature. He has two large, curved horns on top of his head. In his mouth, he has white teeth that shine in the moonlight. His claws are long and sharp but his teeth are blunt and brittle. That's not all, he also has beady black eyes and an enormous, green, slimy spot on the end of his nose.

The Puffalo's body is covered in green, orange and red fur and drifting down his back are two rows of pointy prickles. His fur feels as soft as cotton wool but it is dirty and knotted. As he stomps through the forest he swishes his bushy tail and his gigantic feet make the earth shake. He smells of pond weed because he lives in a smelly, damp pond. All the forest creatures are scared of the petrifying Puffalo.
